UNCLE SAM PAYS EXPENSE STATE- HOOD CONTEST

GILA COUNTY WILL GET ABOUT $2,400 FOR ROLLING UP HER BIG MAJORITY.

ORIGINAL BILLS OF THE COUNTIES WERE CUT DOWN BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Warrants to Pay Counties of the Territory Are Now in Hands of Secretary Nichols and Will Be Paid Over on Supervisors Approval.

Notification has been received by the board of supervisors that the government will make good the expense incurred in holding the election to determine the sentiment of the people on the joint-statehood proposition. The notice states that Pima county will receive $1,752.19 to make good the expense which resulted.

This bill was audited by a special government agent and a number of the expense items were disallowed. The notice states further that in this respect four other counties are sufferers to the following extent: Maricopa, $1,082; Graham, $461; Coconino, $127, and Gila $172.

Under the special act providing that the government should pay the bills of the special election, Pima, Maricopa, Gila, Coconino and Graham sent in claims first. In addition to the sum which Pima received the other four counties will also be reimbursed as follows according to the statement: Maricopa, $2,625; Graham, $2,315; Coconino, $1,488; Gila, $2,005; Gila $172.

It is stated that the warrants to pay these sums are now in the hands of Secretary Nichols of the territory and can be had as soon as the supervisors agree to the reduction made in the expense accounts. It is stated that the remaining eight counties in the territory will also be allowed expense money for this election, but their warrants will come later as their accounts have not yet been audited.—Tucson Star.

Busy Rudyard Kipling. Mr. Kipling has solved the Asiatic problem for Canada. It took him the best part of a week. "Pump in the immigrants from the old country," he says. "Pump them in. England has 5,000,000 of people to spare." Having disposed of this troublesome question, he can now pass on to other pressing matters of imperial concern.

Running the British empire keeps Mr. Kipling pretty busy. Life for him has become a steady grind of great state affairs. During the Boer war he financed the hospital service with a music hall ballad. Then he adopted the Morris tube for village workmen to shoot through and created a nation in arms by organizing a rifle club. He wiped Russia off the map with "Truce of the Bear." He smashed the alliance with the Goth and the shameless Hun when the European fleets blew up a mud fort in Venezuela. He commanded the United States to take up the white man's burden in the Philippines. He is the guardian of the British navy. He saved the British empire from collapse by reviling in verse the Transvaal constitution. On his way home perhaps he will stop off long enough in Newfoundland to adjust the fisheries dispute, and if he can find time between now and spring he may have to look in on the Australian high protectionists and ask for better terms for British imports. There's no telling. When duty calls, Mr. Kipling packs his grip or writes a poem. He recognizes that he is a British institution and he makes it his special affair to think imperially. The government may maul him along over the business of governing, but Mr. Kipling has stationed himself on the watch-tower to keep the nation awake and alarmed. You never catch him taking two weeks off to hunt bears in the canebreaks.—New York World.

SOCIETY WOMEN DETECTIVES

Aid Mrs. Persifer Frazer, Jr., to Obtain Divorce Evidence.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., December 7.—Society women were the principal detectives employed by Mrs. Mary Newbold Welsh Frazer, daughter of the late John Lowber Welsh, in procuring the evidence against her husband, Persifer Frazer, Jr., which she will use in a divorce suit.

It was the gossip of the society women, Mrs. Frazer admits, that first led her to consider divorce proceedings. Then for two months they kept her in touch with the daily doings of Mr. Frazer.

The information which Mrs. Frazer embodies in the divorce papers was obtained by her only two months ago. She charges that it was then that she learned that her husband was attached to another woman, well known in society. It has been agreed by both sides to eliminate her name. The case will be tried before a master and every effort will be made toward secrecy.

Central American Peace Conference.

The United States, aided by Mexico, is participating in this conference because of possessing the largest foreign interest in the American political situation. Its work in the direction of guidance, advice and securing the compromise of contending interests. It has adopted no domineering attitude, and its position appears to be perfectly understood and gratefully appreciated by all the powers directly concerned. It is, of course, well understood that the United States is largely interested in the outcome. It has certain political responsibilities in that direction affecting its relations with the powers of Europe. It is at this time engaged in the heart of the region. It hopes to see the conference close with reliable guarantees of peace and prosperity in Central America in large measure because of selfish considerations. This very relation to the problem, however, renders its position at the conference the stronger and affords the greater assurance of a satisfactory outcome.—Washington Star.
